

Some Restaurants recommended for ASDP participants

See for addresses, phone and short descriptions:

<http://www.alternative-hawaii.com/restaug.htm>

University Ave/ King/Beretania

Kirin	Chinese; good salt/pepper calamari; dim sum good
Spices	SEAsian (Thai/Lao/Cambodian), BYOB
Imanas	Japanese
Jimbo	Japanese (noodles)
Chiang Mai Thai	eggplant with yellow bean paste; curries
Maple Garden	Chinese, not bad, evening buffet

Manoa Market Place/Manoa

Ducky's Korean	funky, but tasty
Yummy Korean	generic, but filling
Bangkok Chef	take-out type place, but good food
Paesano Italian	excellent, run by Laotian, good seafood
Andy's	breakfast and organic sandwiches

Waiialae/Kapiolani/Kapahulu

Ojiya	Japanese Isakaza, musubi bento
Irifune	garlic ahi spot, local Japanese
Tokkuri-tei	Japanese pupu spot
Dee Thai	good value and flavor, pad phet and calamari yum, BYOB
Uncle Bo's	local fusion
Ono's Hawaiian	good Hawaiian food, poi
Formaggio's	wine bar/some food...good cheese plate
The Fat Greek	Mediterranean, pretty good, across from City Mill, BYOB
Ninnikuya Garlic	garlic restaurant; expensive, but big portions; exc. top sirloin
Fujioka's	wine/liquor shop, good values,

Waiialae-Kaimuki

Town	fusion with flair
12 th Ave Grill	excellent local produce food with style
Hale Vietnam	best for pho
Saigon Sandwich	best for bun and spring rolls
Champa Thai	ong choi with calamari and green peppercorn Mahi, BYOB
9 th Ave Bistro	Lao/French, small and tasty BYOB
Tamura's	wine/liquor and great poke (raw/smoked seafood appetizers)
Himalayan Kitchen	Nepalese and Indian food, good, BYOB
3660 on the Rise	higher end, but good.

JJ's Bistro                      French-Laotian food, BYOB, small portions, good flavor

McCully Shopping Center

Phuket Thai                      calamari yum; whole fried fish; pad ki mao
Fook Yuen                        Chinese seafood (Cantonese)

Keeamoku (near Ala Moana Shopping Center)

Soribul                            Korean, nice restaurant, good food
Panda                              Dim sum

Chinatown

Little Village                    healthy Chinese, creative dishes
Indigo                              fusion, nice décor
Legends                            dim sum
Green Door                        Malaysian curry. (very small)
Mabuhai                            Filipino

Mauna Kea Marketplace food court...Malee Thai is very authentic; lots of Asian ethnic and local food

Waikiki (hey, we nevah go there!)

Diamond Head Grille nice atmosphere, food pricey
Michel's                          ocean view, French-Asian fusion, pricey, but good
New Otani Hotel                the view...on the water next to beach. Food only okay
(all these are off Kapiolani Park, just past the Honolulu Aquarium...nice places)

Local

Kua Aina at Ward Shopping Center (burger/fish sandwich specialities)
Zippy's chili and rice, chicken plate (several around town, one on Kapahulu Ave.).
Spam musubi - Hawai'i is the spam capitol of the US. Sold all over, but for something different, try Kelvin Ro's Diamond Head Market for salmon and brown rice musubi.

Whole Earth (on King west of University) and Kokua Coop (on King east of University) are whole foods places vegetarian take-out. Whole Foods (national chain) is at Kahala Mall, accessible via #1 bus.